Kurt Hofschneider

The patchwork quilt that tells the history of aviation by depicting the exploits of former aviators just added another square of fabric – Kurt Hofschneider.

Historic aviator...

Infinitely energetic...

Always entertaining...

Forever helpful. Thornton Wilder wrote “The highest tribute to the dead is not grief but gratitude.”

Please join me in thanking Kurt for his love and his service and for using his life to make the world of aviation, especially New Jersey aviation, and our lives so much better.

— Jack McNamara, Esq.

For the 50th anniversary of “King Kong”, the Empire State Building anchored a giant inflated wild eyed monkey at the top of its building. With the cameras running, Kurt dived his Tiger Moth at it repeatedly to reprise those ever memorable final and most dramatic scenes from the iconic movie.
